

Georgia Philosophical Society
Spring Meeting
Saturday, March 28th
Clayton State University

- 9:00 Coffee & Conversation
- 9:30 Stephen Matthew Duncan: “Can I Be Many?”
Georgia State University
- 10:30 Nathan Nobis: “Why Francis Beckwith’s Case Against Abortion Fails” Morehouse College
- 11:30 Business Meeting
- 12:00 Lunch
- 2:00 Raleigh Miller: “Two Dimensions of Moral Responsibility” Georgia State University
- 3:00 Roger Wertheimer: “Origin of Metalinguistic Misconception” Agnes Scott College

Advance copies available by e-mail from Raymond Woller at rwoller@uga.edu

DIRECTIONS TO CAMPUS

<http://www.clayton.edu/maps.htm>

We’re meeting in 260 University Center

Once you enter campus on Clayton State Blvd, follow it down and around the curve (Arts & Sciences bldg is on right at bottom) and park in a lot on the left. En route to the parking, you can see the University Center off to the right just beyond dorms on the left. It’s the tall new-looking building in the middle of the campus For help on campus call our host Ron Jackson at 404-790-4830.

